

CROWDS WILL FLOCK HERE ON MONDAY TO CELEBRATE FOURTH.

It Will Be the One Big Day of the Year in Connellsville and Program Is About Complete.

PARADE TO BE BIG FEATURE

Fantastic Division Promises to Eclipse Them All—Athletic Events Are Attracting Attention and Fireworks Will Surely Make a Hit.

The celebration committee which has charge of the big doings here next Monday in making splendid programs and everything in to be ready when the going is tapped to start things off. The subscription list is still climbing and collections have resulted in the committee getting more money than was anticipated, but certainly not more than will be needed.

Tonight the most important work of the week that of mapping out the line of march will be taken up when Chief Marshal J. M. Reid will meet his aides at 8 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. Every aide is requested to meet at that time.

Today a special invitation was extended the various labor unions of the community to participate in the parade and to send their aides to Captain Harry Dunn for instructions. No specific invitations were extended any of the local societies, but the unions felt slighted, it is said, because they had been overlooked. If they desire to participate they will be given good positions in the line.

The fantastic parade promises to spring a few surprises. One of these will be a chariot race, but the committee in charge declines to give out the details. The list of floats to be in line is increasing rapidly.

Arrangements were made this morning for cars to carry the Town Councilmen and veteran soldiers in the parade. These men will meet at City Hall early Monday morning and that is where the cars will call for them.

Special cars will be run to Connellsville on that day from all parts of the region and preparations are being made to handle thousands of visitors. The committee believes there is little question but that the facilities will be taxed to the utmost to handle the visitors and special police protection will be given.

How Justice O'Hegarty's Decision Had the Force of Law on Bear Creek.

The death in Allegheny county of "Squire" John O'Hegarty at the advanced age of 97 years recalls the fact that his active years were spent in Henry Clay township and that he was well known and highly respected throughout the county. He was a staunch Democrat and a leader of the party in Henry Clay.

He was for many years a justice of the peace and the decisions of his court are reputed to have been accorded the sanction of authority across the Maryland line. When the leading members of the Fayette county bar rode the Bear creek circuit some thirty years ago, and practiced incidentally at the bar and chiefly upon the trout in that stream, Charles Henry Rush of Uniontown and Justice Samuel Smith of Brownsville were accused by District Attorney Charles E. Boyle with having wickedly, designedly, feloniously and with intent to deceive, secretly procured the services of certain expert local fishermen to provide them with strings of handsome trout which they falsely and fraudulently brought back to camp and exhibited as trophies of their skill as anglers. The case was presented with such force that it looked dark for the defendants. They were represented by William Henry Playford, whose eloquence in depicting the miseries of the penalty of riding on the Water Wagon for 24 hours moved the court deeply, and the Presiding Justice, John Henry McClelland, quoted from 1 O'Hegarty 23, showing clearly that possession was nine points of the law and the presumption of innocence must be with the defendants.

The judicial authority of Justice O'Hegarty's court as a court of record was established on the banks of Bear creek and the principle has recently been affirmed by the Superior Court of Pennsylvania.

TWENTIETH VICTIM.

Patrick Burns Dies from Wehrum Explosion.

Patrick Burns died at the Spangler Hospital Thursday from a lung affection received in the recent Wehrum mine explosion. He is the twentieth victim of the explosion and died from poisoning either by mine gas or by air vitiated following the alleged coal dust explosion in the Lackawanna slope. In fact, every one of the victims to die at the hospital succumbed to gas poisoning. Burns was taken to Scranton for burial.

NO STATEMENT UNTIL INQUEST

Mine Inspectors Have Completed Investigation at Wehrum—Said To Have Been No Fire Boss.

WEHRUM, July 2.—Although the investigation of the State mine inspectors following the explosion here last Wednesday has been completed, no statement, official or otherwise, will be made until after the coroner's inquest, the date for which has not been set. While the inspectors may have formed an opinion as to the cause of the explosion the nature of their report will depend much on the testimony of miners caught in the logs.

It is said there has been no fire boss at the mine, which might be a violation of the State law but for the fact that this condition is permissible in mines reported as non-gaseous. It is understood more precaution will be taken in the future, as the workings are approaching those of a mine said to be gaseous and it is probable the Lackawanna people will put on a fire boss.

The work of the inspectors was no easy task, as the condition of the mine was very bad. It is said, however, that the explosion was not caused by a pocket of gas. While coal dust was found coked it was not in the shape that would follow an explosion of gas.

Coroner J. S. Hammers of Indiana will not arrange for an inquest until the miners now in Spangler Hospital are able to appear as witnesses, as they alone can tell of the happenings in the mine.

COKERS LOSE TIFFANY, WHO IS GIVEN RELEASE

Has An Injured Arm and May Not Play Ball Any More This Season.

Gordon V. Tiffany who for three seasons has played first base for the Connellsville team last night was given his release upon his own request and this afternoon leaves for his home near Sligo, N. Y. Tiffany has a badly injured arm and will be out of the game for some weeks, if not all season.

Reports that Tiffany was dropped by the local team because of this injury were absolutely without foundation. Tiffany went to Manager Sweeney and Director A. A. Straub last evening and requested that he be made a free agent.

"I will be out of the game indefinitely," he said, "and would feel much better at home than here. I would like to have my release." It was granted.

Tiffany's departure leaves Chip Francis as the only man on the team which played here in the old West Penn league.

Every effort is being made to strengthen the team. Scores of telegrams have been sent out to ball players who might be free at this time. Lines are out for several good first basemen and a strong man will be secured for this corner if possible. The receipts of the games played Saturday, Sunday and Monday will be pooled. On Monday the game here is in the afternoon. As usual, the holiday rate of 50 cents will be charged while 15 cents will be taxed all in the grandstand. This is the only day in the year ladies are charged for the grandstand.

POLICE BELIEVE BODY IS THAT OF LEON LING

But Others Say Not So New York's "Finest" Are Up Against Stone Wall.

United Press Telegram.
NEW YORK, July 2.—Persons knowing Leon Ling, the Chinaman alleged to have murdered Elsie Sigel, crowded the morgue today to attempt to identify the body of the Chinaman found floating in the river last night.

Captain Carey, head of the homicide bureau, who knew Leon, claims to be certain the body is his. Others who knew Ling claim not.

The body conforms almost identically in every detail to the identification of Leon. The police certainly are confronted with an impenetrable Oriental mystery.

It is generally believed the murder of the girl and Leon is the outcome of some mysterious conspiracy between Tong societies.

Every boy in Connellsville will be given an opportunity to enjoy the bath and swimming pool at the Y. M. C. A. Secretary F. L. The idea is to extend an invitation to all the boys of town whether they are members or not of the Association. There will be one swimming and bathing day, Saturday morning of each week. POLICE LOOK FOR OTHERS

County Detective McBeth Hopes to Apprehend Other Men Mixed Up in Robbery of William Taylor on Wednesday Night.

UNIONTOWN, July 2.—Two negro muggers are in the county jail, each facing the charge of robbery. Both deny their guilt but the officers profess to have sufficient evidence to warrant their apprehension.

Rev. William Clark was arrested yesterday on charges of having held up and robbed William Tracy, an old man of peculiar habits, on Wednesday evening near Searight. Tracy, who had a habit of carrying large sums of money with him, claims to have lost between $600 and $700. One thing he does know he lost, was a $20 gold piece and $50 bill, which he had carried for years.

Clark denies the charges against him, but cannot give a clear account of where he was about the time of the robbery. He came to Mt. Pleasant from Virginia in 1886, married over there but his wife died. He later came to Footedale, worked by the day and preached when the opportunity afforded itself, and later moved to Searight. He married a second time at Footedale. He hasn't been able to work in the mines lately and has only put in about four days during the past month.

Rev. Emmanuel Kennedy, another negro minister of the gospel, was arrested by Special Officer Crawford. He is charged with breaking into the home of Walter Howe some nights ago and taking a watch, razor and suit of clothes. He denies the allegations against his character.

TWO NEW STREET WALKERS BEFORE BURGESS

Seems To Be a Bad Season for Gay Damsels, as Six Are Now Doing Time in the Lockup.

This is a bad season for street walkers but the police got two new ones during the night who made their appearance before Burgess Evans this morning. Both were strangers to the police, but have come under the keen eyes of Officer John A. Lowe of late. Last evening Annie Kerr and Florence Sidebottom went to Mervin's tavern to hire a rig but failed to get one. They were going to drive to Annie's home near Wheelers, they said. Burgess Evans assessed the usual fine of $5 but neither was able to pay and took five days. They will miss the Fourth of July celebration unless they can raise the price.

This makes six women who are doing time in the bastle as none of the four sentenced yesterday have yet raised the dust. Solitary confinement is the rule and all are kept in their cells, getting only bread and water for their fare.

Miss Missionary Meeting.

One of the best missionary meetings held by the ladies of the Methodist Episcopal Church for some time was that of the Foreign Missionary Society held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. L. Denniston on Green street. The attendance was large and a very fine program was rendered. The subject for study was "With the Children." The first paper, "The Hour of Opportunity," was read by Mrs. W. H. Clasper, the President. Short paragraphs, the subjects of which were "In the Mission Field," "The Great Danger of the Church Not Training the Children for the Mission Field," and "The Missionary Children," were read by members of the society. A very interesting paper containing a short sketch of the life of Mrs. Lucy F. Harrison, who at the age of 70 years organized a King's Herald at Lexington, Ky. followed. Mrs. Harrison has done wonderful work among the children and the Herald now has a membership of 1100 children.

A vocal duet by Mrs. George McClay and Mrs. E. S. Swartz was well rendered. A paper "My Bekie's Conson in the Mission Field" was then read by Mrs. Stanley Jackson. A vocal duet by Mrs. McClay and Mrs. Swartz followed. Short talks were then given after which an English tea was served by the hostess.

Parish Sage is a most pleasant, definitely perturbed hair dressing, and besides curing dandruff, your drug list will return your money if it fails to stop falling hair or itching of the scalp.

It will make hair grow, and women who desire soft, beautiful and luxuriant hair can have it in two weeks by using this famous, quick acting preparation. A. A. Clarke sells it under a guarantee.

Don't let any druggist tell you he has something just as good as Parish Sage because there isn't any hair restorer so good. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every package and you get a much larger bottle of Parish Sage for your 50 cents than you get of the ordinary.

If you have used ordinary hair tonics and can say that Parish Sage gave the hair a good, healthy, silky appearance, lids the head of dandruff, and keeps the scalp cool and clean, I recommend Parish Sage as being fine for the hair and far ahead of any other tonic I ever used. Miss Emma Foss, 520 Adams Street Owosso, Mich., December 9, 1905.

THE WEHRUM DISASTER AND ITS INVESTIGATION.

The cause of the Wehrum mine disaster remains as mysterious as ever. The Mine Inspectors decline to discuss it and the Coroner of Indiana county refuses to hold an inquest until the injured miners who were rescued from the pit are well enough to testify.

It develops, however, that this mine was classified as a non-gaseous mine, and was not provided with a fire hose; yet the only explanation of the explosion which has been given out is that it was caused by the ignition of a gas pocket in probable combination with dust.

It is also stated that the mine was found to be in bad condition, though the announcement first made was that it was in first-class condition with excellent ventilation. Gas pockets are not dangerous where there is plenty of ventilation. The air currents are strong enough to practically dissipate the danger by carrying off the gas or diluting it with air and reducing it to an inflammable point.

The injured miners who were on the ground when the explosion occurred will be better able to explain it than any expert theorist, and the verdict must await their evidence.

In the meantime, however, the facts as developed create the suspicion that the mine was not up to date if it was up to the law.

CITIZEN OF WESTMORELAND AS WELL AS OF FAYETTE.

The Greensburg Star has the following to say concerning two characters in Western Pennsylvania's history when it was the Western Border of American civilization:

The Connelville Courier, while not approvingly of the practically consumed project of public spirited citizens of Uniontown to buy the greater part of the farm on the National Pike, which is the grave of General Braddock, and transform it into a public park, to be known as the Braddock Memorial Park, expresses regret that nothing had been done by the citizens of Connelville, toward erecting a monument to the memory of his great pioneer, Col. William Crawford, the friend of Washington, who was tortured to death by the Indians.

The Courier thinks Crawford is much more entitled to post-mortuary distinction than Braddock, and the Courier is right. Connelville should certainly raise a monument to his memory for his name will ever be intimately linked with the history of that locality. As a historical character he ranks as a high as Braddock, while as a useful pioneer in the development of this region he far surpasses the latter. Crawford was a dear old thing. Braddock was too, in a sense, but his military accomplishments worked out fruitfully in a negative way, while Crawford's were positive.

Colonel Crawford was not only a pioneer and a soldier, a man of public spirit and tried patriotism, but he was also a man of affairs and was distinguished in civil life. He was the first Presiding Justice or President Judge of Westmoreland county, and his will and many of his official acts are set down in Westmoreland county's early records.

THE SHAKE-UP IN MINE INSPECTORS.

We are in receipt of a communication from a Uniontown miner protesting against the wholesale changes in mine inspectors throughout the bituminous districts of Pennsylvania.

We confess our inability to understand the reasons for the many changes that have been made. If it was the policy of the Department of Mines to install the most competent inspectors in the most dangerous districts we might see some reason for the changes, but we do not understand that such was the intention or in the case.

The mine inspector who is familiar with his district, and is competent to take care of it, is certainly the best equipped inspector to be in charge of it. If he is not competent, he should not be the inspector of any district.

Chief Roderick has not seen fit to give any reasons for his shake-up among the inspectors. His reasons may be good or bad, but until he makes them public we will be compelled to view the matter according to our own lights.

In the meantime it may be observed that in the shake-up of inspectors the chief is the only man who is not disturbed in his job.

SOMERSET COUNTY COAL DAMAGE SUITS.

Suits against the Somerset county coal operators for mining and taking coal from other seams than the B or Miller vein are multiplying, to the great surprise of the coal trade generally.

It seems almost incomprehensible to the well-posted coal operator that there should be any grounds for such suits. Every mining operation should have a competent engineer, whose knowledge of geology should guide the operator, and every operator should have sufficient practical knowledge of the coal strata to understand what he is mining.

It is also probable that the Somerset coal operators could have had all the coal seams of every kind underlying their operations at practically the same price they paid for one of them at the time they purchased.

The damage suits now being entered in the Somerset county courts reflect upon the operators whether considered from the standpoint of integrity, ability or sagacity.

We are in receipt of an unsigned communication concerning the Uniontown baseball riot among the members of the Church League, denying certain portions of the article printed in yesterday's issue of this paper. The details, however, are more matters of detail. The writer admits that we have no desire in the world to magnify the trouble. It is bad enough without that, being a reflection upon the church. But we cannot understand why to print anonymous communications. It is a practice fraught with too much danger.

Mount Pleasant has a dog pound. It is one pound ahead of Connelville.

The Pennsylvania Bar Association severely criticizes that class of lawyers whom it designates as "ambulance chasers," the kind who pursue in hot haste every damage case that comes within their knowledge. It is usually a Marathon race between this class of lawyers and the company claim agents, with a handicap on the latter.

The Young Men's Christian Association is not stingy with its swimming pool.

The Boswell miners betrayed a large common sense when they turned a deaf ear to the labor agitators and decided to remain at work.

The bloodhound detectives are beginning business in Fayette county already.

The Proud Bird of Freedom will not be seen on the Glorious Fifth, but the standard will be carried through Connelville from dawn till long after sunset.

June voted very wet after a hot contest.

The Boasting Brigade of Boosetown is bragging about the big war of bills they have raised for the independence celebration. Lots of people have lots of money, but they don't know how to spend it.

The Prohibition Tribune insists that it is not for Judge James. Well, who said it was, and why should it be?

Lady guests of the lockup will be allowed to have hair cuts, but no more liquid refreshments of the cheering kind nor any reception of a merry character. Burgess Evans is trying to impress upon frail humanity that the borough battle is not a matter of entertainment for joyous people, but a house of introspection and penitence.

July has record of being a month of stirring times for American independence and American Unity.

Monkeys and whooping cough are almost epidemic in the coke region, but there's some consolation in the fact that summer vacation time is the most convenient period in which to treat infantile diseases of this character.

The equitable formation of a coke merger is a big sum in arithmetic.

The life of the Connelville coke region has been the subject of much speculation on the part of persons who would for various reasons like to see it shortened, but one of the leading railway interests of the State and the Nation is evidently convinced that there will be something doing here for years after the Connelville coal seam has been exhausted.

The Frick veterans are still young enough to have picnics, and not one too.

The Narr is the name of a four-page newspaper published this week at Bedford during the sessions of the Pennsylvania Bar Association by a committee of the association composed of Cyrus G. Derr, William U. Hessel and John B. Dampman, all old newspaper men. It was a very creditable journalistic effort. It claims to have the largest daily circulation of any paper published in Bedford to get all its news wireless and to have a highly intelligent class of readers. It is also strictly within the law regardless of the facts. It is an unprofessional publication devoted to professional matters, and that is its purpose. The most interesting Narr ever read out of court.

The hot weather has reopened the open-air Sunday service proposition.

The Connelville News issued a 22-page independence edition yesterday complete with interesting local information and the effort was substantially supported by local advertising indicating that the business interests of Connelville are patriotic and public spirited. The edition was neat, newsworthy and enterprising.

The Uniontown Genius was the Democratic bible of Fayette county in the old days, and its present editor is evidently trying to revive the ancient reputation by a liberal sprinkling of scriptural quotations.

The West Penn believes in advertising at the Center of Business.

In the good old canal boat times, a warning note of danger was, "Low Bridge!" In those modern trolley times, the high bridges that are dangerous.

The trackman who is run down by a railroad train will always, even in memory, lie under the suspicion of having been an industrious man.

The American farmer who hunts calves, the "Klondike" coal region will henceforth keep a wary eye for dusky savages.

The Prohibition Tribune prints a very interesting editorial on "The Birth of the Daily." It has no relation to the late Editor William Likins.

"We have not been bribed," says the Uniontown Tribune. No, just bought.

Tennessee is reported to have gone Dry. This is another Southern Near-Beer-Mountain-Moonshine joke.

Who Will Be the Fullest Auditor of Uniontown Standard.

We are pleased to see Editor Likins among us and to hear that his new venture in the journalistic world promises great success. We wanted to suggest that he start a bookkeeping department in his paper and secure Professor Sombower to assist him in editing it, but felt a little timid about making the suggestion.

SOME JULY FORECASTS.

EDITORIAL ETCHINGS.

The Uniontown Standard calls attention to the fact that the three Republican candidates for the judicial nomination in the larger county of Westmoreland spent in the aggregate about $2,000 as against about $10,000 spent by the two Democratic candidates for the judicial nomination in Fayette county, and wants to know whether Fayette county is "corrupt and contented."

The Monaca Independent thinks that all boroughs which tax telegraph, telephone, electric light and power poles should protect such poles against defacement and destruction by the tacking thereon of all manner of advertisements by all manner of people. In a community supplied with good newspapers there is no excuse for such advertising.

The Altoona Gazette is not surprised that extravagant political expenditures should find an echo in the Pennsylvania Bar Association meeting.

SPRIT OF '76 IN SCOTSDALE.

Arrangements Completed for Independence Day Celebration Next Monday.

DECORATIONS BEING PUT UP

Fleets for the Pageant Being Built
All Over Town—Prizes Offered for the Athletic Events—Other News of the Busy Mill Town.

SCOTSDALE, July 2.—Decorations are being put up lavishly and floats are being built all over town to take part in the big parade which Scotsdale holds their Independence Day celebration here on Monday. The committee in charge have practically finished up all the details of the day's amusements, which are varied and of a most interesting character.

The route of the parade, which starts at 1 o'clock, will be from South
Broadway to Fifth Avenue, to Brown street, Emerson, returning to Broadway, to Loucks avenue, to Grove street, to Pittsburg street, to Broadway and to the starting point. There will be five sections of the parade, and valuable prizes are offered for the best features. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon and 7 o'clock in the evening there will be balloon ascensions of 2,000 feet by Prof. Herrguth, at Loucks park. At 2:30 and 7:30 there will be a slack wire performance at Loucks park by Eddie Cunningham.
At 3 o'clock there will be varied athletic contests at the Loucks park and a 5-mile Marathon from Mt. Pleasant to Scotsdale. Prizes are given for all the events, and the entries must be in the hands of F. R. Parker before 8 o'clock this evening. There will be baseball games at Ellsworth park at 10 A. M. and 3 P. M. At 8 o'clock there will be a magnificent display of fireworks from the Chestnut street hill. Burgess R. F. Ellis has issued a proclamation that from 9 to 10 o'clock on the 5th no fireworks of any kind are to be used. This will be rigidly enforced, and people are guaranteed safety and comfort while on the streets.

Some Business Changes.
Among business changes during the week was the reorganization of the Parker store, with J. B. Parker, president; G. C. Parker, vice president;
F. R. Parker, secretary, and H. R.
Parker, manager. A charter has been issued under the name of J. S. Parker Company. S. A. Lowe has sold his interest in the Broadway Drug Store and will devote himself to the Central Drug Store. A. J. Benson will continue to manage the Broadway store. A. J. Thomas of Blair, has opened a merchant tailoring store in the Scotsdale Savings & Trust Company building.

Real Estate Transfers Made.
Among the real estate transfers of local interest recorded at Greensburg
during the week were: Joanna J.
Null, land in East Huntingdon township, to Joseph A. Null for $200, May 17, 1909; Wesley Metz, et al, land in Mt. Pleasant township to the H.
C. Frick Coke Company, for $56, June 19, 1909.

Many Families Moving In.
Scotsdale's few empty houses are being filled up with the returning of a full resumption of the town's industries, and T. B. May this morning said he had hauled the goods of four families yesterday that are locating in Scotsdale, having come here from other towns. The other heavy stable keepers have also been busy in the same line during the week.

Can Ride in Automobiles.
The luxury of the auto is being brought to everyone now, for this evening under the auspices of the ladies of the Baptist Church there will be a tour to Mt. Pleasant. The cars will leave Pittsburg and Spring street at 6 o'clock, and the fare for the round trip will be 50 cents for the grown-ups and 25 cents for children under 12 years of age. The devil wagons should be well loaded.

Mr. Bassett Is Ill.
Many friends will regret to learn that John W. Bassett, one of the oldest citizens is confined to his room with a severe attack of sickness.
Louis Truxell, another of the older residents, is able to be out today after an attack of sickness, which kept him in the house for some days.

No Game on Saturday.
There will be no baseball game at Ellsworth park on Saturday afternoon, but on Monday there will be a game in the forenoon and afternoon when the strong Belvidere team, of Pittsburg, well known here, plays the Scotsdale team.

WHOOPIING COUGH EPIDEMIC.
Three Deaths From It Have Occurred

Three deaths have already occurred in the epidemic of whooping cough that is raging in the mining town of Pricedale, near Bellevue, and State and county health officers are endeavoring to check the further spread of the disease.

Wants More Prisoners.
The superintendent of the Washington County Courthouse is complaining that he does not have enough "criminals" to clean the courthouse. At the present time he has only three and is asking the sheriff for several more.

$117,000 CLAIMED FOR COAL REMOVED.

Berwind-White Coal Mining Mining Co. Defendant in Another Large Suit

FOR THE REMOVAL OF COAL

Joseph B. Miller Alleges That It Was Removed From Beneath His Property Unlawfully and That It Has Caused Great Damage to His Farm.

SOMERSET, Pa., July 2.—The Berwind-White Coal Mining Company is defendant in another action for heavy damages for the alleged unlawful removal of coal. The plaintiff is Joseph B. Miller, a well known farmer of Paint township.

Last week Mrs. Annie E. Ott instituted an action to recover more than a million dollars from the same defendant for the same reason. These two suits are among the largest ever instituted in Somerset county.

The plaintiff's statement, which was filed on Thursday morning sets forth that the plaintiff, Joseph B. Miller, owns in fee simple a tract of land in Paint township containing 25 acres 107 perches, adjoining the lands of Abraham Weaver, Peter Hoffman, Jacob J. Weaver and Annie E. Ott, having thereon erected a two-story frame dwelling, a barn and various outbuildings.

Prior to the alleged wrongful acts of the defendant company there were certain non-springing and a well, dug at great expense by the plaintiff, which furnished an abundant supply of pure water for use in irrigating the farm as well as for the herds and flocks of domestic animals maintained by the plaintiff.

Since the unlawful mining operations of the defendant the expense of operating the plaintiff's farm has been greatly increased owing to the absence of water due to the loss of the springs through the negligence of the defendant company whereby the surface was caused to subside, it is alleged.

The plaintiff claims that he owned all the land excepting the B or Miller seam of coal underlying about nine acres of his farm, which he conveyed to the Berwind-White Company, that corporation being limited in their mining operations to the Miller seam under the nine acres, yet it is alleged in the papers filed, that the defendant without the consent of the plaintiff mined, removed and converted to its own use the C Prime or Meent seam of coal, knowing this seam to be upon the lands and to be the property of the plaintiff and not to be the B or Miller seam but the C Prime seam. These alleged wrongful acts were committed in violation of the provisions of the Act of Assembly approved May 8, 1876, and therefore the plaintiff claims damages in the value of the coal so wrongfully mined and removed by the defendant, in all $117,066.23.

The plaintiff also avers that the defendant carried on his mining operations negligently and in such a manner as to cause injury to and render less valuable the veins and seams of coal, lime stone and other minerals overlying the C Prime seam and coal so as to render the mining and removal of the overlying seams more difficult and hazardous, thereby greatly decreasing their value to the damage of the plaintiff $13,720.25.

It is also alleged that by reason of the defendant's negligence in mining the coal they left insufficient surface support, thereby decreasing the fertility and productiveness of the soil and making its use and occupation dangerous to the plaintiff, his family, workmen and domestic animals by reason of the depressions and subsidence in the surface, breaks gulleys and openings therein. They also caused the loss of the springs and the well referred to above, and for all this injury the plaintiff claims damages in the sum of $5,000.

BOSWELL MINERS RETURN TO WORK

Decide By Unanimous Vote That They Will Continue at Work as Heretofore.

SOMERSET, Pa., July 2.—For several days about a hundred miners employed by the Merchants Coal Company at Boswell have been out on a strike, claiming short weight of coal mined as the reason for their action. The miners claimed that they mined more coal than they received credit for. On Tuesday it was announced by the mine officials that if the miners did not return to work within two days the mines would be permanently closed. The miners held a meeting in the woods near Boswell and unanimously agreed to return to work. Work is very scarce at this season of the year and as the great majority of the strikers are married men they could not afford to lose their income. The officials of the company blame labor organizers, several of whom have been in Somerset county recently.

TISSUE REUNION WAS BIG EVENT

Many Descendants Gathered at Bear Run and Made Merry for Two Days.

One of the largest and most enjoyable social functions held at Bear Run and vicinity for some time was a grand reunion of the children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren of Mrs. Ross Tissue of Indian Creek, held Saturday at the home of Mrs. Tissue's son, Charles Tissue, at Bear Run. Mrs. Tissue is in her 72nd year and none present enjoyed the event more than she. There were 52 guests present and during the two days of the reunion there was not a dull moment. There were good things to eat in abundance and all kinds of amusements both for the young and old. Before sitting down to a bounteous repast served on the lawn Saturday at noon every guest present was weighed and it is said that one prominent guest present weighed 40 pounds more after dinner.

Saturday evening there was a barn dance in which the young guests and many of the old participated. Pitching quoits was one of the favorite past times for the men while the older guests present spent several pleasant hours in relating many happy reminiscences of their girlhood days. The children present were Charles Tissue of Bear Run; Grant Austria of Ohio; and Mrs. Jennie Garlitz of Confluence; Mrs. Dora Austin and Joseph Wesley Tissue of Morgantown; Mrs. Fred Stickle of Indian Creek; Rev. Travis of Confluence; and Mr. and Mrs. John Slichter of Connelville, were among the guests present.

BLOODHOUNDS TRAIL ROBBERS

Three Men Apparently Looted the Markleysburg Postoffice—Not Known How Much Loot.

The Markleysburg postoffice conducted by Thomas & Son was broken into on Tuesday night and a considerable sum of money taken. The exact amount has not been made known by Mr. Thomas. Entrance to the store was by a side window and the safe was blown open.

Yesterday Deputy Sheriff Berg with two blood hounds traced the burglars to the vicinity of Listonburg. There were three trails but at the water tank near Confluence two of them were lost at the railroad, while the other continued on to the home of a well known Listonburg resident. The dogs were taken back to Fairmont and the postoffice department notified.

GIBSON GOES TO NORWAY.

Leaves Somerset Mines To Take Similar Position Away.

Superintendent John Gibson of the United Coal Company's operation at Jerome, Somerset county, has tendered his resignation, effective July 15th, in order to accept the position of General Manager of a mining property at Trondheim, Norway. He is understood to have engaged with the Norway concern for a period of two years at a flattering salary, and will sail for Europe in August. Mr. Gibson is a native of Baltimore, where he was born about 32 years ago. He has been a member of the United Coal Company's operating staff for a long time, for two years past as Superintendent of the mines at Jerome, where his work attracted the attention of his new employers, with the result that he was engaged to develop the property of the Arctic Coal Company in Norway.

CHAPTER XII.

CHANCE sat for hours on his porch that night gazing down upon the chateau. Lights gleamed in a hundred of its windows. The bitterness of his own isolation, the ostracism that circumstance had forced upon him, would have been meditating on this night had not all rancor been tempered by the glorious achievement in the market place. He wondered if the princess knew what he had done and what he had accomplished in the early hours of the night. He wondered if they had pointed out his solitary light to her—if now and then she bestowed a casual glance upon that twinkling star of his. The porch lantern hung almost directly above his head.

The chateau was indeed the home of revelry. The pent up, struggling spirits of those who had dwelt therein for months in solitude arose in the wild stampede for freedom. All petty differences between Lady Deppingham and Drusilla Brown, and they were quite common now, were forgotten in the whirlwind of relief that came with the strangers from the yacht. Mrs. Brown's good looking, eager husband, reeled in the prospect of this delicious night, this almost Arabian night. He was swept off his feet by the radiant princess, the schemeress of his boyhood dreams. His little heart thumped as it had not done since he was a boy. The Duchess of N. and the handsome Marchioness of B. came into his tired, hungry life at a moment when it most needed the light. It was he who fairly dragged Lady Agnes aside and proposed the banquet, the dance, the concert—everything—and it was he who carried out the hundred spasmodic instructions that she gave.

Late in the night, long after the dinner and the dance, the happy company, flocking to the picturesque hanging garden for rest and the last refreshment.

The hanging garden was a wonderfully constructed open air pleasure suspended between the chateau itself and the great cliff in whose shadow it stood. The cliff towered at least 300 feet above the roof of the spreading chateau, a veritable stone wall that extended for a mile or more in either direction.

Near the chateau there was a real waterfall, reminding one in no small sense of the misty veils at Lauterbrunnen or Oeschbach. The swift stream which obtained life from these falls, big and little, ran along the base of the cliff for some distance and was then diverted by means of a deep, artificial channel into an almost complete circuit of the chateau, forming the moat. It sped along at the foot of the upper terrace, a wide torrent that washed between solid walls of masonry, which rose to a height of not less than ten feet on either side. There were two drawbridges, seldom used, but always practicable. A small stationary bridge crossed the vicious stream immediately below the hanging garden and led to the ladders by which one ascended to the caverns that ran far back into the mountain.

Two big black irregular holes in the face of the cliff marked the entrance to these deep, rambling caves, wonderful caverns wrought by the convulsions of the dead volcano, cracks made by these splintering earthquakes when the island was new.

The garden hung high between the building and the cliff, swung by a score of great steel cables. These cables were riveted solidly in the solid rock of the cliff at one end and fastened as safely to the stone walls of the chateau at the other. It swung stanchly from its moorings with the constancy of a suspension bridge and trembled at the slightest touch.

It was at least a hundred feet square. The floor was covered with a foot or more of soil, in which the rich grass and plants of the tropics flourished. Cool fountains sprayed the air at either end of the green enclosure. The illusion was complete.

The walls surrounding the garden were three feet high and were intended to represent the typical English garden wall of brick. To gain access to the hanging garden one crossed a narrow bridge which led from the second balcony of the chateau. There was not an hour in the day when protection from the sun could not be found in this little paradise.

side show." "Bundlers tells me that he was near to being butchered, but luck was with him," said Deppingham. "His ship came home."

"It was a daring trick. I'm glad he pulled it off. He's a man, that fellow," said Brown. "See, princess, away up there in the mountain is his home. There's a light. See it? He keeps rather late hours, you see."

"Tell me about him," said the princess suddenly. She arose and walked to the vine covered wall, followed by Bobby Brown.

"I don't know much to tell you," said he. "He's made an enemy or two, and they are trying to drive him out. We've asked him down here just because we can't bear to think of a fellow creature wasting his days in utter loneliness, but he has so far declined with thanks. The islanders are beginning to hate him. They distrust him, Britt says. Of course you know why we are here. You?"

"Every one knows, Mr. Brown. You are the most interesting quarter in the world just now. Every one is wondering how it is going to end. What a ploy you can't marry Lady Agnes?"

"Oh, I say," protested Brown. She laughed merrily. "But how dull it must be for Mr. Chase! Does he complain?"

"I can't say that he does. Britt—that's my lawyer—Britt says he's never heard a murmur from him. He takes his medicine with a smile. I like that sort of fellow, and I wish he'd be a little more friendly."

"He has learned to know and keep his place," said she coolly. Perhaps she was thinking of his last night in the palace garden. Away up there in the darkness gleamed his single, lonely, pathetic little light. "Isn't it rather odd, Mr. Brown, that his light should be burning at 2 o'clock in the morning? Is it his custom to sit up?"

"I've never noticed it before, now you speak of it. I hope nothing serious has happened to him. He may have been injured in— I say, if you don't mind, I'll ask some one to telephone up to his place."

"Yes, do telephone," she broke in. "I am sure Lady Deppingham will approve. No, thank you. I will stand here awhile. It is cool, and I love the stars." Five minutes later he returned to her, accompanied by Lady Agnes. She was still looking at the stars.

"Lady Deppingham called him up," said Bobby.

"And he answered in person," said her ladyship. "He seemed strangely agitated for a moment or two, Geneva, and then he laughed—yes, laughed in my face, although it was such a long way off. I asked him if he was ill or had been hurt. He said he never felt better in his life and hadn't a scratch. He laughed—I suppose to show me that he was all right. Then he asked me to thank you for bringing a warship. You saved his life. Really one would think you were quite a heroine or a godsend or something like that. I never heard anything sweeter than the way he said good night to me. There!"

The light in the hunglows bobbed mysteriously for an instant and then went out.

"How far is it from here?" asked the princess abruptly.

"Nearly two miles as the crow flies, only there are no crows here. Five miles by the road, I fancy. Isn't it, Bobby? I call him Bobby, you know, when we are all on good terms. I don't see why I shouldn't if you stop to think how near to being married to each other we are at this very instant."

"I wonder if help could reach him quickly in the event of an attack."

"It could if he'd have the kindness to notify us by phone," said Brown.

"But he wouldn't telephone to us," said Lady Deppingham ruefully. "He's not so communicative as that."

"Surely he would call upon you for help if he?"

"You don't know him, Geneva."

The princess smiled in a vague sort of way. "I've met him quite informally, if you remember."

"I should say it was informally. It's the most delicious story I've ever heard. You must tell it to Mr. Brown, dear. It's all about the enemy in Thorberg. Mr. Brown, there's your wife calling, Bobby. She wants you to tell that story again about the bishop who rang the doorbell."

be said, for the marquis, her uncle, was not disposed to look upon the island situation as a spot of long continued peace.

"You won't be able to get help as cleverly and as timely as that American chap got it last night," protested the marquis. "Warships don't browse around like gulls, you know. Karl will never forgive me if I leave you here."

"Karl is of a very forgiving nature, uncle, dear," said Geneva sweetly. "He forgave you for defending Mr."

"I hope no harm comes to you here in this beautiful place!"

Chase, because you are such a nice Englishman. I've induced him to forgive Mr. Chase because he's such a nice American—although Mr. Chase doesn't seem to know it—and I'm quite sure Karl would shake his hand if he should come upon him anywhere. Leave Karl to me, uncle."

And so they sailed away without her, just as she had intended from the beginning. Lord Deppingham stood beside her on the pier as the shore party waved its adieu to the yacht.

"By Jove, Geneva, I hope no harm comes to you here in this beautiful place!" said he, a look of anxiety in his honest eyes. "There goes our salvation if any rumour should come up. I can't call 'em out of the sky as Chase did last night. Lucky beggar! That fellow Chase is ripping, by Jove! That's what he is. I wish he'd open up his heart a bit and ask us into that devilish American bar of his."

"He owes us something for the warship we delivered to him last night," said Bobby. "He has made good with his warship story, after all, thanks to the King's Own and Britt."

"And the fairy princess," added Lady Deppingham.

"I am doubly glad I came if you include me in the miracle," said Geneva, shuddering a little as she looked at the loughing natives. "Isn't it rather more of a miracle that I should come upon mine ancient champion in this unheard of corner of the globe?"

"I'd like to hear the story of Chase and his adventures in the queen's garden," reminded Bobby Brown.

"I'll tell it to you tonight, my children," said the princess as they started for the balconies.

Hollingsworth Chase dodged into the American bar just in time to escape the charge of spying.

The Great Root Juice Will Be Here In the Morning.

THE WONDERFUL HEALTH-CREATING DISCOVERY WILL BE AT GRAHAM & COMPANY'S DRUG STORE.

So much has been published and said about the scientist and his great discovery and so many stories have been told of the wonders accomplished in a very few days with his great health-giving Root Juice, that many are getting anxious and would like to see the wonderful remedy that has made many remarkable cures during the past few months. The newspapers of a number of cities have told of hundreds of cures the Root Juice has made, and some of the stories almost are almost too good to be true. It is said that many people who had given up hope of ever seeing another well day—even some whom the best doctors of the country had pronounced incurable—after taking the Juice a short while were restored to perfect health. The remedy seems to remove all soreness from the stomach, bowels and bladder, and soon so heals the kidneys and liver that the blood making and blood filtering organs work in healthy union. Then all forms of indigestion, belching, heartburn, sick headache and constipation are cured as the cures have been removed. It seems that it cures rheumatism, by preventing fermentation in the stomach and bowels and by giving the kidneys the health and the strength to filter all accumulated acid from the blood. The reporter was told that the demonstrations would begin in the morning at Graham & Company's drug store.

Root Juice is $1 a bottle. Three bottles for $2.50.

OPERATION HER ONLY CHANCE

Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Adrian, Ga.—"I suffered untold misery from a female weakness and disease, and I could not stand more than a minute at a time. My doctor said an operation was the only chance I had, and I decided it almost as much as death. One day I was reading how other women had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and decided to try it. Before I had taken one bottle I was better, and now I am completely cured. LYDIA E. PINKHAM, Route No. 3, Adrian, Ga."

Why will women take chances with an operation or drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, irregular menstruation, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion, and nervous prostration.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be absolutely confidential, and the advice free.

Thursday always was my Jonah day. Never had any luck any time.

The old song was certainly appropriate at the ball yard yesterday for it was Thursday and luck was certainly not roosting in the Cokers' chicken coop. Crippled, dispirited and getting the worst of the bad breaks, they fought an uphill game only to lose by the narrow margin of three runs. A three run lead, half-much to those Cokers in these halcyon days of multitudinous binges, but it was a little beyond the limit yesterday.

The sick list was very much in evidence and three regulars are out of the game for a day or so, at least, and it may be longer for one or two. In the first place, Gordon Tiffany injured his arm in Tuesday's game against Clarksburg but did not think it serious until late that evening when it began giving him pain. An investigation developed that a nerve in his throwing arm is paralyzed and it may be days, weeks or months before he gets into the game once more. Ben Frazer, the clever little backstop, has a bad attack of gall stones which finally brought him down on his back. Ben pluckily played Tuesday, but his work was off color and this was the cause. He had to give up the ghost and lay off for a time. Frazer hopes to get into the game not later than next Monday.

Kid Hagan was the third cripple. The Kid has been troubled with a bad ankle since the season opened and Wednesday night slipped down a flight of stairs, wrenching his back. He played Tuesday, but needed a rest badly, so was out of the game yesterday.

Added to all these troubles, Elmer Cannon used his saliva smart to great extent in the game and the moist ball was responsible for a couple of costly beetle heavens by Manager Sweeney. (By Francis and Johnny Summers. As for these heavens, and Glassburner's unfamiliarity with first base, the Cokers put up a good fielding game.

Things broke bad right at the start. Patterson singled while Zinn laid down a bunt. Cannon fielded the pill but Glassburner forgot to get his foot on the sack and the runner was safe. Gainer singled and then Elmer forced a run by passing Hinton. Ross Riley hit one at Cannon, who broke down the drive and sent it over in the Francis' direction. Zinn scoring on the play. Gainer hit to Gilligan but Gilligan was across the pan before Barney could make the play at the plate. This was all the scoring in this inning.

The Cokers started strong when Gilligan singled. Summers popped out to Gainer while Myers hot to Patterson, who threw the ball into left field. Gilligan tried to score on the misplay and was thrown out on a beautiful heave to the pan by Zinn. Myers made third and scored when Patterson pegged the Francis' grounder badly. Calhoun retired the side on a long fly to Gainer.

Neither side scored in the second but both got runs in the third. Gainer got his base and stole, and then scored when Sweeney threw one of Elmer's spitballs over Summers' head.

The Cokers got two runs in their half. Summers was patient and drew a free trip, scoring on Myers' two bouncer. Like Francis walked and Calhoun scored Myers on a single. Chip Francis hit a liner to Gainer, who stopped it, retired Chip and caught like at the plate.

grounder at Hinton. Summers could easily have scored. Calhoun and Chip both went out.

Four singles and a sacrifice netted Grafton three runs in the seventh after the Cokers had fallen down in the sixth. Glassburner got to first on Hinton's wild heave and Sweeney hit for two bases. With men on third and second and none out, Cannon fanned. Gilligan hit a sizzler to Gainer and Glassburner was nipped at the plate, while Summers popped to Riley and the side was out.

In the ninth Zinn's three bagger and Gainer's single got Grafton its last run. The Cokers made a game rally, but it fell short. Summers singled through short and Myers then hit for three bases. Calhoun tried to get the ball over the fence but only succeeded in sending a two-base drive past Gainer and Myers tallied. With Calhoun marooned on second, Chip Francis hit a weak fly to Gainer and Glassburner fanned. The score:

Sick Ward Budget.
Hard luck.
Some hitting.
Better luck today.
Sullivan slants are costly.
Summers played a nice game.
Glassburner made good for a novice.

Dave Calhoun was hitting a few yesterday.

Cokers had the usual number of men stranded.

Grafton managed to bunch hits best yesterday.

Crowd looked for Cokers to uncork something. They did.

Does it hurt a team to have its lineup shattered? Ask Sweeney.

The Cokers had the laugh on Rothemel when he was banished.

Three Cokers were nipped at the plate. Enough to have tied the score.

Summers lacks confidence on the bases. He is afraid to take chances.

There were some beautiful hits. Myers, Sweeney and Calhoun all sniped the sphere.

Ike Francis was there with his timely single and sacrifice fly.

Chip Francis, Glassburner and Cannon were the only Cokers who failed to shine with the willow. Each had a good opportunity.

Red Hinton failed to get a hit. He also had a bad heave over Gainer's head.

The moist ball handicapped the Cokers. The sliny sphere was slippery, as slim most of the time and heaves were erratic.

Dave Calhoun was left like an ox in the desert three times. He was marooned on second each time.

Grafton looks like a dark horse. The team has some sluggers who will make trouble for pitchers around the circuit.
